Statement from USASF

Memphis – July 19, 2021 - USASF, the not-for-profit membership organization for competitive cheer and dance in the U.S., is committed to the safety of our 140,000+ athlete members. Our athlete safety practices and policies are purposefully aligned with SafeSport best practices, and we continuously look for ways to improve athlete protection. We have implemented more stringent safety reporting and educational policies for all members, including athletes, parents, gym owners, coaches and event producers. We deplore any instance of sexual misconduct or harassment of our members, and we have taken significant steps to respond to reports of misconduct and to make it clear that there is no place for sexual predators in the cheer and dance community.

USASF treats reports received about allegations of sexual misconduct or harassment as confidential, and we do not comment on litigation.
